

Here in northeast Mississippi, one media company owns the NBC-WTVA, FOX and ABC -WKDH affiliates. All news originates from their studios at WTVA in Tupelo, MS. This severely restricts our news options I think constitutes a public safety issue. For example, we live in a tornado zone and receiving weather information from only a single source is dangerous and multiplies the adverse effects of an error that could be made by one meteorologist. Who I might mention has made such an error in the past. Although I have Dish network, I am prevented by law of receiving an affiliate in nearby Memphis on my Dish. If I had this option I could receive a different slant on news.
